

Vacancy for a Freelance Policy Consultant

The Good Lobby is a non-profit civic start-up committed to equalizing access to power for a more plural, inclusive and democratic society. It provides strategic advocacy advice, training and research support to non-profits, activists, progressive businesses, and philanthropies to give them a greater, more responsible voice in the policy process.

We are looking to expand our pool of external Policy Consultants and look for a candidate who is:

- A Master: someone who masters lobbying and EU Affairs. Someone who understands the challenges of nonprofit advocacy, and more broadly civil society sector in Europe.
- A Problem Solver: you know how to monitor policies and you know how to craft strategies to make change happen.
- A Facilitator: someone who loves public speaking and seeks to be a bridge-builder between different environments (e.g. public, private, civil society sectors)

The challenges we will propose to you:

- Support the education and policy teams on a variety of projects, including The Good Lobby EU Masterclass, Fossil Fuel Finance Lab, and The Good Lobby Hub
- Deliver trainings and provide advice for organisations coming from different walks of life and sectors (civil society, private sector, grassroots, etc in lobbying and advocacy).
- Provide written feedback on advocacy strategies for different actors in civil society.
- Create contents in the context of The Good Lobby Hub, assist in identifying speakers, and participate as a speaker in the Hub's webinars.

What we are looking for in our Policy Consultant:

- 5-7 years experience in EU public affairs or advocacy, gained in a consultancy, law firm, EU institution and/or NGO.
- Strong command of EU policy-making processes.
- Outstanding public speaking skills and teaching experience would be an asset.
- Expertise in designing and implementing advocacy strategies.
- Experience working on energy, sustainability, and/or just transition would be an asset.
- Creativity, flexibility and openness to change.
- Understanding of the challenges of the nonprofit sector and European civil society.

What we offer:

This is a freelance position with flexible working hours, invoiced monthly based on project needs. We are open to candidates based outside of Brussels.

The work and the well-being of The Good Lobby is strengthened by the diversity of our network and our differences in background, culture, experience, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, and much more. We welcome applications from people of colour, women, LGBTQIA and persons with disabilities.

How To Apply:

Please send to recruitment@thegoodlobby.eu:

- your CV
- a one page cover letter where you tell us why you want to work at The Good Lobby

In one single PDF file entitled: Policy Consultant_Your First Name Your Last Name

Please apply by November 4; however, the sooner you apply, the better your chances of being hired as this is an immediate opening.